

Page Six®

Richard Johnson
richard.johnson@nypost.com

With Paula Froelich
paula.froelich@nypost.com Bill Hoffmann
bill.hoffmann@nypost.com and Corynne Steindler
csteindler@nypost.com

Medellin prince

FORGET about Hollywood types. The real star of last weekend's sixth annual Queens International Film Festival was Pablo Escobar Jr., the son of the infamous Colombian drug lord gunned down in 1993. Escobar, who flew in from Miami, was spotted at London Lennies seafood restaurant in Rego Park chatting with a handful of producers about a TV show and a clothing line he wants to create. Instead of changing his name, Escobar wants to re-brand. The Queens fest's honoree this year was actor Joe Estevez, the younger brother of Martin Sheen and uncle of Emilio Estevez and Charlie Sheen.